We have made some solid progress through the first couple weeks of our project. We are not as far as we had originally anticipated, but this was discussed on the first day of our presentation. Our architecture decisions are finalized and they are being put into place. Please see the sprint documents to see the work we have remaining.